Port Colborne man dies in Hwy. 3 crash

FRANK INEMAN
Postmedia Network

A 34-year-old Port Colborne man who was willing to do anything for others has died as a result of a single-vehicle crash on Highway 3 early Saturday.

Justin Olm is being remembered as a hard-working and kind-hearted man.

"He was a very kind-hearted person to say the least," said cousin Eric Olm. "He'd do anything for anyone when asked, that's an understatement."

He said his cousin was known for his work ethic and for being a talkative man.

"He talked a lot, he's known as very talkative — good talkative — oh man, he always had something to say."

Ontario Provincial Police in Niagara are investigating the crash that happened in Port Erie at about 1:15 a.m.

According to the OPP, Olm's vehicle was travelling towards Port Colborne west of Point Abino Road, when for unknown reasons the driver lost control of his vehicle.

The vehicle began to roll over. Olm, the only person in the vehicle, was ejected onto the road.

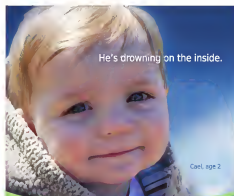

Some time later, another westbound vehicle approached the collision scene and struck him as he lied on the road.

Highway 3 was closed for several hours for the investigation.

Police ask anyone with information, or who may have witnessed the collision, to call them at 905-356-1311.

Funeral details for Olm were not immediately known.

Fire hits old gold-plating building

RAY SPITERI
Postmedia Network

Fort Erie firefighters were called out to a fire at an abandoned, former gold-plating factory on Courtwright Street at about 4 p.m. Saturday.

area, and mainly damaged contents within the building, which also at one time made fishing lures. He said the building has two storeys at either end, with a one-storey section in the middle.

He said it's "really difficult" to quantify the damage, but added it's likely about $15,000 to $20,000.

Due to the fact the building was vacant, and has been abandoned for a number of years, the fire is being treated as suspicious, said Coplen.

He said the Office of the Ontario Fire Marshal was consulted, but won't be attending the scene.

The fire department continues to investigate the incident.

Point of View

Get out and enjoy Niagara's rec trails

It's spring, finally, and for all those but the most hardy winter enthusiasts, it means most of us will be spending more time enjoying the outdoors.

We see it already, on the trails and bicycle paths through and around town - people are again out walking, hiking and cycling.

During the recent warm spell, motorcycles made their seasonal come-back, their low, guttural rumble and roar a reminder to drivers be aware and cautious.

But cyclists and e-bikes are quiet, not necessarily announcing their presence, so we all have to be aware of the etiquette of sharing our recreational trails.

And since we in Niagara are fortunate to have many recreational trails to enjoy, a little reminder of the courtesies of trail-sharing seems timely.

Of course the rules are different according to whether a cyclist, ebike or even roller-blader is on a trail or road, where traffic laws prevail, but the ultimate goal, wherever we are riding or walking, is safety and respect for others.

On a trail, that means keeping to the right and passing on the left, while alerting those you are passing with a bell or a shout-out.

Pedestrians often seem on a different planet as they walk - enjoying the peaceful, quiet landscape, tuning out the world around them. They may be walking in couples, holding hands and chatting; they may have a dog, hopefully on a leash but that can never-the-less be easily distracted by some scent and dart off - and these days, if walking alone, pedestrians almost all have ear buds and are listening to music as they stroll. They need to be alerted to cyclists and roller-bladers who might be about to pass them. A bicycle bell is not that loud - a cyclist's shout to tell someone they're passing on the left should always be appreciated.

An extra courtesy to pedestrians is letting them know if you're a lead cyclist in a group of two or more - it tells them what to expect.

Pedestrians too have a responsibility to be cautious and respectful - don't block the path, and be careful of any sudden movement such as pointing or moving to the other side of the path without checking over your shoulder - you could have a cyclist on your heels without realizing it.

And when a cyclist announces that he or she is passing on the left, it seems polite - and an encouragement that the shout is welcome - to say thank you.

Both pedestrians and cyclists can present a dangerous situation when they block the path, either because they're travelling in groups, or because they have stopped to chat or admire something on the side of the trail. Best to move right off the path.

It seems an unwritten rule, as many who frequent recreational trails will recognize, that everything intersects at once - you're walking along alone, haven't seen anyone for ages, when all of a sudden you spy a family with a dog and kids walking toward you and sense a bike or roller-blader coming up behind you. You just know everyone is going to meet at the same time. Don't assume others will clear the path - move off it and do your part to create a safe situation, and hope others will do the same.

And be extra cautious of kids on bikes, for their sakes and well as yours. Kids, it seems, have a tendency to be distracted when they see someone on the path, and especially with the young ones, they tend to ride in the direction they're looking. If you see a child coming toward you on a bike, assume they are going to head right for you and be prepared to get out of their way.

One more request for respect, and that's to the dog-walkers.

We all love to see dogs allowed to enjoy nature as they should, running leash-free, wagging their tails and greeting all they meet. But most of us who use recreational trails see that situation fraught with danger for all - pedestrian, cyclist and dog. Best to keep dogs on a leash - municipal laws about dogs on leashes exist for a reason - and close to you on recreational trails. Stick to the leash-free park or, if you're lucky, private property where you know your dog is welcome and safe to run with abandon.

And please, pick up any mess your dog may leave behind.

As we put away our winter coats and boots and enjoy the spring-like weather, let's get out and enjoy our recreational trails, and by showing some common sense and respect, allow others to safely enjoy them too.

Do you remember?

A big thank you to Ken Traves for writing in about last week's photo. The woman holding the quilt was his mother, Evelyn Traves and the younger woman beside her was probably his cousin Darlene (Gillroy) Lee. Mrs. Evelyn Traves was a member of the Central Avenue United Church, Fort Erie where this photo was likely taken in the late 1960s. Our thanks to Rebecca Havill, Teresa McGuigan and an anonymous classmate of the two girls in the previous week's photo. They were from left to right, Elizabeth Ambridge and Kimberly Tanzi. These girls attended Our Lady of Victory Senior School in 1981 and may have won this trophy for gymnastics or public speaking. If you can add any further information, we would love to hear from you. This week's photo puts us in mind of Easter services. This photo was taken at St. John's Lutheran Church. Can anyone tell us who the pastors and the layman are in this photo? Please call the Museum at 905-894-5322 or e-mail museum@forterie.ca

Enjoy the outdoors with a friend

The late George Foss of Sherston and I walked the trails of the Stevensville Conservation Park in late December several years ago.

We passed by various oaks, red, white and two large Burr oaks. They all had one thing in common. There were varying numbers of leaves still on each of their branches. A LESSON FROM THE OAK TREE. Have you ever noticed that in late fall when some oak trees retain crisp, dry leaves long after maples, the elms and the walnuts have become bare skeletons? When we return to the Stevensville site in spring we will find that the strong winter winds and the early spring rains have not stripped the oak branches completely. This is what I read in a devotional booklet, "As springtime progresses, something wonderful happens. Tiny little oak leaf buds start appearing at the tips of the twigs, pushing off the dried remnants of the preceding season. What the winds and rains could not do without, the forces of new life do from within."

EARL PLATO
When Nature Calls

Now you don't have to wait to spring in order to make new resolutions for 2016. We all know that at times old habits, that are not essentially good for us, cling to our lives with the same tenacity as those old oak leaves. The message is: "The best way to get rid of a bad habit is to start a good habit." The writer also says, "Rely on God and he will give you the strength to push off the old habits." That's good advice. The old memory failed me. George identified some wild barley grass. I thought that it might be rye grass but my book on grasses failed to verify which of us was right. Looks like we will have to return again. I should have taken a sample home for study. He mentioned the pickered pond again. I told him that the lagoon to our left was stocked with fish in May. I still hadn't caught on to where the pickered hatchery was. We returned and walked along the edge of the creek and crossed the bridge where the Black Creek gets one of its two main sources. This one branch had its head water from Humberstone Marsh in Port Colborne. What? Check it out.

We turned right and took the Inner Trail. This is a pleasant walk high on the bank. Below us and to our right, easily seen through the leafless trees was, the Creek Trail following the meandering of Black Creek. The two of us stirred up the debris under a large Burr Oak. As hard as we looked we found no acorns with the unique "burr" edges. We reached the junction of the three Trails, the Outer, Inner, and Creek. Along the way in this area someone had tied pieces of wool to the branches of trees in a haphazard fashion. Why? There is a little bench here and there once was a bird feeding station. Again chickadees fitted in the underbrush and sang their familiar song. We headed north along the outer trail. Someone had cut back the branches of encroaching evergreens. At first we thought someone had entered the Conservation area for some Christmas trees. Not.

We arrived back at the little bridge and followed

SPECIAL TO THE FORT ERIE TIMES/POSTMEDIA NETWORK

A map of Stevensville Conservation Area.

the hilly Cline Nature trail back to the car. Autumn olive and high bush cranberry bushes lined the creek here. A feeder station at the tree had plenty of chickadees and some Slate coloured juncos. Note: George and I did take some other good nature walks. Sadly, George Foss died too soon.

Take some time to visit the Stevensville Conservation Authority Park. Take along a friend. I am sure that once you enjoy the peacefulness of the setting you will return again. Earl Plato is a resident of Fort Erie, local historian and nature lover.

Spotlight, rated 14A, next week's movie showing at library

Spotlight, a searing film about a critical, painful time in the lives of individuals, a city and a church, will be screened at the Crystal Ridge branch of the Fort Erie Public Library on Tuesday afternoon, March 29 at 2 p.m., with an encore presentation at the Centennial branch on Thursday evening, March 31, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Spotlight tells the true story of the 2001 to 2003 Boston Globe investigation of allegations of child sexual abuse by Roman Catholic priests during the second half of the 20th century. This Oscar winning movie (Best Picture, Best Original Screenplay) features Mark Ruffalo, Michael Keaton, Rachel McAdams and Lieke

Schreier, and is rated 14A.

Tonight's movie at the Centennial Branch is the Robert DeNiro, Anne Hathaway comedy Intern, about a retired executive who brings his wealth of experience to an online fashion site. The film begins at 6:30 p.m.

Are you interested in creating with the library's 3D printer? If you are, and you are 16 years of age or over, please register for a one hour 3D printing primer being held Tuesday, April 5, starting at 2 p.m.

at the Centennial Branch. Participants will learn how to set up the printer, work with 3D models and print their own designs. Those interested should contact Michael Schell at mschell@fepl.ca, or call 905-871-2548, ext. 301. Space is limited to five participants, but more dates will be added if interest is shown.

If your income is low and your tax situation is simple, there are a few opportunities left to have a volunteer trained by Canada Revenue prepare your return for you.

Spaces are still available at clinics being held April 2 and 8 at the Centennial Branch, and April 11 at Crystal Ridge Branch. Be sure to call for an appointment as soon as possible.

Thanks to everyone who brought children or grandchildren to the March break events at the library. More than 870 people in total attended six programs, four workshops and three movie screenings, which made their break a time of more fun, more excitement and more learning. Watch for great summer programming, too.

All branches of the Fort Erie Public Library will be closed on Friday, March 25 and Monday, March 28 for the Easter holiday. Branches will be open for regular hours on Saturday, March 26. Visit the library online anytime at www.fepl.ca to download ebooks, audiobooks, magazines, music and movies.

CAVITY FREE FOR LIFE?

Part Three

In previous issues, the topic of discussion has been both decay and its causes. We also described three key components to the process of both decay. The first of these keys is cavity-causing bacteria and the second key is sugar. We have learned that if you feed the cavity-causing bacteria with sugar, they will eat the sugar and release lactic acid, which will create holes. These holes are what we call cavities.

Now let's talk about the third and final key.

Third Key – Plaque

Plaque is the buildup of bacteria mixed with a number of substances that are attached to the tooth surface. Think of the plaque as a housing complex for the cavity-causing bacteria. In order for these cavity-causing bacteria to create holes in our teeth, they must stay close enough to the tooth surface to cause damage. To accomplish this, bacteria work together to form biofilms that adhere them to surfaces in close proximity to teeth. We call these complex plaques.

Here is a diagram to summarize the interaction of the three keys of both decay.

Dr. John Inigo

As you can see, all three keys must be present at the same time in order to get cavities. If you can control any one of these keys, you could be cavity free for life.

Bacteria Control

- Do not share spoons with infants or avoid mouth-to-mouth contact for at least two years after the appearance of their first tooth (This is usually around 6 months old). This will allow other non-cavity causing bacteria to grow first so that there won't be enough room for the bad bacteria to sneak in.

- Controlling acidity in the mouth by using mouth rinses specifically formulated for this purpose. One product that I recommend is called Can-Flex. Ask your dentist or search for it online. These bacteria don't like function poorly under acidic conditions which can be achieved with mouth rinses like Can-Flex.

- Chew gums containing Xylitol. Xylitol is a sugar-like substance that is taken up by cavity-causing bacteria. However, because the bacteria cannot utilize the sugar-like substance, bacterial death is the result.

Sugar Control

- Consume less sugar
- Limit the frequency of sugar intake
- Use sugar substitutes in your diet, like Splenda, Sugar Twin, Equal, etc.

Plaque Control

- Brush at least two times a day for two minutes.
- Use an electric toothbrush
- Floss daily (Try flossing while watching TV, it's a great habit to adopt).

- Visit your dentist at least twice a year.

Fort Erie Easter fun begins Friday

SARAH FERGUSON
Fort Erie Times

The Easter Bunny is hopping her way to Fort Erie for some fun and excitement this weekend.

The fun will begin at the Stevensville Garden Gallery at 9 a.m. on Friday, March 25. Egg hunters ages eight and under should keep their eyes peeled for golden eggs. The lucky finders of the golden eggs will receive a prize.

Donations for the food bank at Community Outreach Program Erie are appreciated.

The fun continues at United Empire Loyalist Park that same day where the Stevensville Kinettes will host their annual egg hunt for children 12 and under at 11 a.m.

Kinettes member Linda Houser says youngsters should look for "special eggs" because they will have special prizes inside.

Volunteers will serve free drinks and hot dogs for families.

Crystal Beach Public School will host its first egg hunt on Saturday, March 26 for children 12 and under beginning at 10 a.m.

The Ridgeway Business Improvement Association is inviting everyone to the Village Square for an egg hunt for children ages 12 and under on Saturday, March 26 beginning at noon.

Youngsters will have a chance to meet the Easter Bunny herself and take photos. There will also be plenty of activities including cookie decorating, egg decorating and more.

Jesse Boles, event co-ordinator for the Ridgeway BIA, said Royal Canadian Legion Branch 230 will open its doors from 8 a.m. to noon for its indoor farmers' market. Children will want to stop by to take photos with live rabbits.

"The Easter Bunny will also stop at the market before the big hunt," Boles said.

FIRE PREVENTION SMARTS

At least 80 percent of all fire deaths occur in home fires. Here are some smart
Fire Prevention tips for protecting yourself and your family:

- ✓ Never leave candles burning unattended, and keep matches out of reach from children.
- ✓ Keep space heaters away from curtains and other flammable materials.
- ✓ Install smoke alarms on every floor of your home and outside each bedroom, and test batteries monthly.

Treasures galore at indoor garage sale

SARAH FERGUSON
Fort Erie Times

Find all sorts of treasures at the Black Creek Stevensville Lions annual indoor garage sale.

Lion member Ann-Marie Noyes said the garage sale, which will take place Saturday, April 9 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., will offer something for everyone.

"We'll have small appliances, movies, books, clothing, children's toys, pictures, house wares and other things like purses."

Ted Watts, president of the of the Lions club, said proceeds from the sale will go toward maintenance costs at Camp Wetsaskiwin in St. Catharines, where summer camps and the service organization's youth exchange program are held.

"The camp is used by boy scouts but a lot of community organizations use it too," Watts explained. "Our youth exchange program takes place at Camp Wetsaskiwin. Last year, we had 18 kids representing 16 different countries stay there."

Woman with pup hopes to start a dog club in Fort Erie

SARAH FERGUSON
Fort Erie Times

Marion Figueroa knows how important it is for her dog to socialize and play with other canines.

That's why the Ridgeway resident would like to see a social dog group for pet owners and pooches form in Greater Fort Erie.

Figueroa learned the importance of teaching a dog obedience through training and socialization when she was a young girl. When she was 10 years old, her father gave her a dog she called Lassie. Under her father's guidance, she helped her dog become a "loving, obedient collie" and a canine companion.

Over the years, Figueroa, who grew up in Scotland, has owned several dogs and she has cherished each and every relationship she shared with these animals.

Newly retired, Figueroa said she was ready for a puppy, a labradoodle named Sam.

"Adopting a dog is a big responsibility. It's a lot like adopting a child because it's a big responsibility and time commitment when rearing a pup." New to Ridgeway, Figueroa said the community is filled with dog owners.

She would like to see members meet at the dog park in Sugar Bowl Park "for some group fun and exercise."

The club would also give members "an opportunity to share their knowledge with other caring dog owners."

"From time to time, a guest speaker may be invited to give some professional advice on dog training, teething and health issues," Figueroa said.

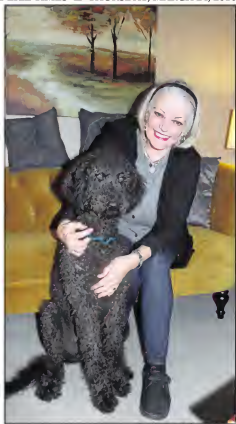

"Also, being a member of a club is a great way to meet some nice folks," she added.

She also dreams of a second dog park in Ridgeway, which she said she learned had been considered by the Town of Fort Erie Parks and Recreation Department several years ago.

"It would be great if we did have a park (in Ridgeway) in the near future as there are hundreds of dog walkers in Ridgeway," she said.

Anyone who is interested in forming a dog club is asked to call Figueroa at 289-876-9182.

MIKE MIELICKI/SPECIAL TO THE FORT ERIE TIMES

Dave Herr, Jack Prybylski, Keith Spurlock, Kacy Dolan, Ryan Gentner, Jim Mauck, Tom Scime, Kenny Thomsula and Rick Johnston of The Chicago Authority will perform at the Sanctuary Centre for the Arts in Ridgeway on April 1.

Chicago tribute band performing at the Sanctuary

SARAH FERGUSON
Fort Erie Times

The Chicago Authority tribute band promises to give a "high-energy show" that celebrates the music of one of the world's top touring acts.

The nine-piece band from Western New York is set to make its Canadian debut at the Sanctuary Centre for the Arts, at 209 Ridge Rd. North in Ridgeway on Friday, April 1 at 8 p.m.

Jack Prybylski, a saxophone player and flautist, said he and his fellow band members are looking forward to performing for the first time in Canada.

"We've definitely love that we get to play at the Sanctuary and we hope to do performances at other venues in Canada."

"We were all for it," he said, adding it's a good time to be a Chicago tribute band with Chicago being inducted into Rock and Roll Hall of Fame."

The Chicago Authority tribute band has been performing together for two years and the success the band has had so far is overwhelming," Prybylski has known guitarist Rick Johnston since they were in high school.

"Rick Johnston and I were playing in a couple of other bands together. This is a project we had in mind for a great deal of time. When the last project we were involved with together ended, we felt that this must be the time for us to put this tribute band together," Prybylski said.

Everybody else, he said, "just kind of fell into place."

The members of Chicago

Authority include Ryan Gentner, vocals and guitar, Keith Spurlock, drums and vocals, Kenny Thomsula, vocals and percussion, Kacy Dolan, trumpet, Dave Herr, bass and vocals, Tom Scime, keyboards and Jim Mauck, trombone.

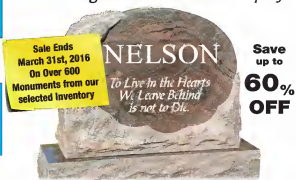

The tribute band will deliver a three-hour show with selections from all 36 Chicago albums.

"We make the songs our own by putting our energy into them. At the same time, when people hear us, they're going to hear Chicago," Prybylski said. Performing in a tribute band is an honour for Prybylski, a Chicago fanatic himself since 1971.

"It's very rewarding, having been the person in the audience and singing along to all the words, to standing on the stage seeing how people react." Tickets are $25 in advance or $30 at the door. Tickets can be purchased at www.thesanctuaryarts.org.

Gilmore Lodge provides compassionate care during final stage of life

You feel it as soon as you step through the front door; comfortable, welcome, a true sense of home. When you enter Gilmore Lodge in Fort Erie, one of eight long-term care homes run by Niagara Region, you are entering a very caring community, where every resident and staff member knows and cares about each other.

New residents are welcomed into a new, vibrant family. And, regardless of the time spent within the walls of Gilmore Lodge, a decline in health or the passing of a resident or staff member is felt deeply and with great sorrow. Helping people deal with the decline and eventual passing of a loved one is the focus of Gilmore Lodge's highly regarded Palliative Care initiative. Palliative care is an approach that improves the quality of life for individuals and families facing end-of-life situations. It focuses on relief of suffering, minimization of pain, and other physical, psychosocial, and spiritual issues. Geriatric palliative care is an approach for the chronically ill and frail elderly members of our community involving active, compassionate care focused on quality of life, support for functional independence, and the relief of pain and suffering. Gilmore Lodge has established an interdisciplinary approach to palliative care, which allows them to develop a plan of care that supports the physical, emotional, social, cultural, spiritual, and overall care needs of the resident, family members, and caregivers. Each staff member is trained in the home's palliative care initiative and receives annual retraining.

There is a misconception that palliative care only takes place in the days immediately preceding a person's final stage of life, but the fact is that a less-intense palliative care may begin weeks or months, and perhaps even a year or more earlier. As a person's awareness and perception levels decline, they require more time and explanation to complete even the simplest of daily, routine tasks. As their motor skills decline, they may require more mobility aids and therapy, and may require a change in diet to enable them to be able to eat their meals. As staff observe changes in a resident, they adjust their own procedures accordingly, perhaps slowing down some routine procedures, acquiring mobility aids if needed, and modifying food texture to make it easier for the resident to chew and swallow. As Personal Support Worker (PSW) Gina says, "We treat our residents like they are our family." As a family, the staff and volunteers at Gilmore Lodge recognize these types of changes taking place in a resident and rally together to address their needs, providing the best quality of life every day for every resident.

When a resident is entering the end-of-life stage, traditional palliative care is initiated. A butterfly sign is placed onto the resident's door indicating that palliative care has been initiated, prompting staff, visitors, and other residents to maintain a peaceful atmosphere. Family is notified that traditional palliative care has begun and that they are welcome to visit at any hour, stay as long as they wish to be with their loved one, and will be accommodated if they wish to stay through the night. Gilmore staff and volunteers keep a close eye on the resident's room; is the resident okay, does the family need anything, do the family need to leave? A major part of the palliative care process is comfort care, ensuring that an individual is safe, free from pain, and most importantly, always has a loving presence at their side. "We are not born alone," says Gina, "so why should someone pass away alone?" If a family member cannot be there, then a staff member or a specially trained palliative care volunteer will sit with the resident. At the request of the resident or family, clergy will be notified that palliative care has been initiated, providing another level of comfort care to the individual.

NASCAR star Jeff Gordon's car makes a pit stop in Fort Erie

Jeff Gordon's final career-winning stock car made a pit stop in Fort Erie last week.

Following the Motorama

Custom Car and Motorsport Expo held from March 11 to 14 in Toronto, the Hendrick Motorsports transporter, carrying Gordon's 2015 #24 AARP Member Advantages Chevy SS NASCAR Sprint Cup stock car was transported via the QEW to Fort Erie and across the Peace Bridge for the long trip back home to Charlotte, NC. But before the vehicle was transported across the border, driver Kenny Babbert stopped on Sunset Drive at the Canadian Motor Speedway site to meet CMS executive Claire MacSweeney, to view the site of the speedway and to ensure the first ever race on site was driven by Gordon, a four-time NASCAR Sprint Cup Champion and CMS track designer.

Gordon's car was featured as part of The Canadian Motor Speedway display at The Toronto show. It's the car Gordon raced during his 93rd and final career win last November at Martinsville Speedway in Virginia during the Chase for the Championship.

Fort Erie Ontario Provincial Baseball Champions

Our feature photo is the 1949 juvenile Ontario Championship Team. Pictured are (from left, back) Shorry Seebach, president; Harry Armstrong, treasurer; John Lesak, secretary; Wray Dunn, coach; Norm Locan, Ken Atwood, Terry Lainson, Marvin Seebach, Mill Zimmerman, coach; Father Meyers, director; Jack McDermott, director; Jim Farrell, (front) Fred Plato, coach; Paul Babel, Reg Eden, Mickey McKeenolds, Tony Fredd, Gerry Seebach, mascot; Pierre Pilote, Joe Griffi, Vince Feltrin, Ray Zimmerman, coach. Absent from the photo are Doug Fraser, Tom Shaw and Irvin McKeenolds.

As spring training gets underway for major league baseball and we look forward to the season for our local teams, I would like to congratulate the Fort Erie Cannons for winning the Ontario Senior Baseball Championship in 2015.

Baseball in Fort Erie has been pretty quiet since the great run of the Junior A champions in 1954 and the senior team winning the provincial championship in 1976.

About 11 years ago Clayton Hall put together a group of young ball players and formed the Cannons. He continued to add new talent and every year became more competitive, playing out of the Niagara District Baseball Association League.

On Labour Day weekend in 2015, the provincial championship tournament was held in Wyoming with the Cannons winning in five games, the finals against their NBDA rivals from Merriton.

Clayton assures me that they will field a strong team again this season with the nucleus of the same club and bolstering the same pitching staff. This is a very good caliber of baseball and great entertainment for the whole family, so look for their upcoming schedule and catch some games for an inexpensive evening out.

Looking back to the past years when baseball was so important to the town's sports entertainment, there were three teams that won Ontario provincial championships in consecutive years that many of us have forgotten about. The midget team in 1948, juvenile team in 1949 and intermediate team in 1950. The midget and juvenile teams had many of the same players, moving up one year because of age.

The pitchers with the midgets and juveniles for both seasons were Vince Felton and Pierre Pilote. Vince was not only an outstanding pitcher and hitter but also played on the infield. He also excelled in high school track and field and basketball.

Pierre at that age had not started playing hockey but when he did he quickly rose from the minor leagues to become the captain of the Chicago Blackhawks, winning the Stanley Cup and the Norris Trophy as best defenceman in the NHL.

As well as the four coaches on the juvenile team, Mill and Ray Zimmerman, Wray Dunn and Fred Plato were on the 1950 intermediate B championship team.

Take time to visit our sports museum at the Leisureplex Arena to see the memorabilia and stories about our local athletes and teams.

Kaiser Frederick Wilhelm III of Prussia decreed during the 1817 bicentenary of the Protestant Reformation, that there should be only one church in his realm. The Lutheran and Reformed were the largest denominations and he forced them to unite, requiring Jews, Methodists, Catholics and Gypsies to also join this state church. Those four later withdrew but the Christian unity ideal continues there today as the Evangelical Church of the Union. Pennsylvania Dutch settlers north of Fort Erie brought that vision in their trek through Pennsylvania and founded the first Union Church in Canada here in 1824. The Kaiser's picture hangs in the church that carried the vision forward, known now as St. John's-Stevensville United Church.

Tony Peltzer

In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, who passed away
March 20, 2015

We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend,
That grief can call its own;
Like ivy on the withered oak
When other things decay,
Our love for him will still be green
And never fade away.

Lovingly remembered by John & Judy,
Fian & Paul, Roger and Lena.

In loving memory of a wonderful
Husband & Father
GILLES LACROIX
October 11, 1960 - March 27, 2006
Ten years have passed since we lost you
In my heart it still feels like yesterday
I don't feel stronger
I still feel lost and alone
The emptiness and sadness I live with everyday
I feel like a shell of a person just going through the motions of life
I miss feeling happy, safe and loved
You made the feel all these things
The happiest day of my life was the day
I became your wife
Until we meet again my love
Love always, Margaret

"To Our Dad -
We wish that we could see you Dad,
For just a little while,
We wish that we could hug you
and see your lovely smile,
But wishing gets us nowhere,
And longing is in vain.
So we will hold you in our hearts,
Until we meet again.
Love, Mathew and Michael.

MARCHAND, Martin -
In Memory of a Dear Husband, Father and Papa who passed away 8 years ago Easter Sunday, March 23, 2008.

His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall,
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.

We love and miss you,
Rita, Jean, Ginette, Linda, Marc and families XOXO

Graham / Mayberry

In loving memory of my husband, Edward Graham,
who passed away March 28, 1997
and my sister, Norma Mayberry,
who passed away March 20, 2008.
Sadly missed by June and Family.

In memory of a wonderful daughter, sister, wife, mother, and grandmother

Oh please don't feel guilty
It was just time to go
I see you are still feeling sad
And the tears just seem to flow
We all come to earth for our lifetime
And for some its not many years
I don't want you to keep crying
You are shedding so many tears
I haven't really left you
Even though it may seem so
I have just gone to my heavenly home,
and I'm closer to you than you know
Just believe that when you say my name,
I'm standing next to you
I know you long to see me
But there's nothing I can do
But I still send you messages and hope you understand
That when your time comes to crossover
I'll be there to take your hand

Always in our hearts
Love Mom, Dad, Barbara & Family, Margaret & Family, Kevin, Jenna, Dylan & Family

WILLARD GEORGE KLAUK

In Loving Memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather who left us on
March 25, 2014.

In tears we saw you sinking,
We watched you fade away
Our hearts were almost broken,
You fought so hard to stay
But when we saw you sleeping,
So peacefully free from pain,
We could not wish you back,
To suffer that again.

Lovingly remembered today,
tomorrow and always.

Your wife, children and grandchildren.

The family of the late Edward Gyorffy would like to thank the community for their outpouring of love and support on the passing of Edward on "Leap Day".

The many gifts of food, flowers, prayers and good deeds done were much appreciated.
Special thanks to our fire department and EMS
crews who speedily attended at our residence not once, but twice over the period of several weeks to render emergency care. And, to Banner Funeral Services for their kindness and professionalism in the end of life process.
Special thanks to the Hogan Law firm for their assistance.

Minor hockey champions

The Greater Fort Erie Minor Hockey Association held its year-end house league tournament on March 4, 5 and 6 at the Fort Erie Leisureplex. All of the league champions will represent Fort Erie at the Alliance House League Championships in London on April 1, 2 and 3.

SUBMITTED PHOTO/SPECIAL TO THE FORT ERIE TIMES

The Greater Fort Erie Minor Hockey Association recently made a donation of non-perishable food items to the food bank at Community Outreach Program Erie. Pictured are (from left) Anne Passero for COPE, Sean McCooey, the director of volunteer coordination and fundraising, James Collison, Derek Hepburn and Kalib Hepburn.

In Greater Fort Erie Minor Hockey League action the Bantam teams played a round-robin between the Carstar Phantoms, the Glenn Insurance Stinglers and the Miller's Auto Recycling Comets, with the Phantoms winning the championship game 3-0 over the Stinglers.

In peeWee action of the Greater Fort Erie Minor Hockey league, the South Coast Cookhouse peeWees defeated the Little Caesars Orange Crush 5-2. The league's other peeWee teams played a competitive consolation championship with Royal Lepage winning a shootout over Dean Demizio Insurance Agency.
